Street-Car Advertising

Street-car advertising has become Universally recognized as an advertising medium of the highest class, owing to the prompt and satisfactory results obtained.

Advertising on the inside of Meralco cars and buses is read by the thousands who daily use this means of transportation.

Advertising on the outside of the cars is seen by the throngs of shoppers on the sidewalks and plazas, as well as the thousands of riders in automobiles and other vehicles.

Street-car advertising costs very little per thousand circulation —much less than most other forms of advertising.

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS

PHILIPPINE MAGAZINE

Founded in 1904, and the oldest monthly magazine in the Philippines, Philippine Magazine was for years the leading teachers' publication in the country.

It is now recognized as the magazine of all educated men and women, leaders in every community throughout the Islands.

It is richly illustrated and of general interest.

It is the only Philippine magazine which, in America, would be placed in the Quality Group.

It covers all of the 48 provinces and is the only National Monthly in a country of 13,000,000 of the most wide-awake and progressive people in the Far East.

The Herald

is naturally the leading Filipino newspaper advertising medium because it is the pioneer Filipino and only evening daily in English in the Philippine Islands.

Mabuhay

is the most effective means of reaching the rich and populous trading area of Central and Southern Luzon because it is undoubtedly the Tagalog daily that serves best that region and has proved most popular with its largely Tagalog-speaking population.

is, of course, the newsiest and lowest-priced Philippine weekly today, so it is not surprising that it has become the best read and most widely circulated newspaper in English in the Islands during its barely six months existence.

THERE is one real and vital reason above all others for Individual Dixies. They prevent you from catching some other person's cold, grippe or more serious contagion.

Everyone knows that common drinking vessels are dangerous—that they are active spreaders of disease. To protect you from this menace to your health, soda fountains, offices, public and semi-public places, and private homes are using Individual Dixies.

You and you alone touch the dainty rolled brim of your Dixie. Once used it is thrown away.

For parties, bridges, dances and other social gatherings, Dixies, in beautiful shades of rose, gold, green as well as white with blue decoration, are wrapped in Cellophane packages, both in ten and twenty-five cent sizes, available at grocery, drug, stationery and department stores.

PUBLISHERS' FOREWORD

PHILIPPINE EDUCATION COMPANY, in presenting to the public the 1933-1934 edition of the Manila City Directory, now in its 31st year, wishes to express its sincere gratitude to the general public, and especially to the business community and government officials, for their coöperation in the work of compiling the publication, during the present year.

On the part of the Publishers, no effort has been or will be spared in the endeavor to make of the Directory not merely a book, but a public service.

As an indication of the service the Directory performs and the need for such a publication because of the constant change in the make-up of the community, it is of interest to note that from the Alphabetical List of Firm Names alone, which comprises some 6,000 entries, 922 names of corporations, companies, partnerships, professionals, etc., were dropped as having gone out of business, and 1,136 new entries were made. These figures do not include minor changes such as in staff personnel, addresses, etc. The figures last year were 779 and 821, respectively.

The total number of names in the Directory are approximately as follows:

Special Directories Section (government officials, army, navy, churches, schools and colleges, hospitals, clubs, etc.), 12,000; Alphabetical List of Firm Names, 6,840; Classified

Digitized by Google

List of Firm Names, 8,184; Resident Section, 21,000; a total of nearly 50,000 names.

The task of compiling the Directory each year may be estimated from the fact that the Publishers employ some twenty canvassers for four or five months, and some ten compilers and proof readers who work the year around. There is not a page in any one edition of the Directory that is the same as the page of the same number in the preceding edition. Not thousands, but hundreds of thousands of changes and corrections are made each year.

All of this effort is aimed at producing a Directory that truly directs. In spite of all this effort, however, errors may have crept in. The Publishers would consider it a great favor if such errors were called to their attention.

HOW TO USE THIS DIRECTORY

To get the maximum utility of such a volume as Manila City Directory it is necessary to know in general just what the book contains. The Directory is divided into four sections, familiarity with which will greatly facilitate finding desired information.

(1) Miscellaneous Section. This section contains a street directory, a postal and telegraph guide, duties on imports, values of coins, weights and measures, the commerce of the Philippines, a census section, a directory of United States, Insular, and Manila officials, a directory of consular representatives, a directory of boards of trade, clubs, churches and religious societies, hospitals and asylums, schools, colleges, and convents, masonic bodies, etc.

(2) Alphabetical List of Firm Names. This section contains the names of firms and professional persons in Manila arranged alphabetically. The names of the officials and most important employees are printed under each firm name.

(3) Classified List of Firm Names. This section contains firm names and addresses classified under nearly a thousand different trade headings, such as "Belting Imports," "Hemp Dealers," "Sugar Machinery," "Insurance Companies, Fire," "Engineers, Consulting," etc.

(4) Alphabetical List of Local Residents. This section contains the names of more than twenty thousand Manila residents, and their occupations and addresses.

In looking for names in the Directory, it should be remembered that names which sound alike vary in spelling, as, for instance, Lopez and Llopis, Jimenez and Gimenez, Lacsamana and Laxamana, and Brown and Braun. These examples should show that one is not justified in concluding that a name is omitted because he cannot immediately find it. Names have been arranged alphabetically as they are usually given. Jose Abad Santos, for instance, will be found under the "A's" because the name is usually given as Abad Santos and not as Santos. Chinese names are not transposed, like names such as White, J. G., but are printed as they are pronounced, such as Dee C. Chuan. If one were to look for this names as Chuan, D. C., he would not find it.

Philippine Trade and Economic Conditions in 1932

By Evett D. Hester
Trade Commissioner

GENERAL economic conditions in the Philippine Islands during 1932 felt the force of the world-wide depression, with continued slackened foreign demand and low prices for principal products. With the exception of sugar, exports of all leading commodities declined in both quantity and value, while average produce prices, including prices of sugar and the non-export crops, rice and maize, fell off from 10 to 35 per cent, compared with 1931. Trade losses, however, were mitigated measurably by increased production and export of sugar, practically all of which was marketed in the United States. The country's financial position was regarded as exceptionally sound.

The value of oversea trade in 1932 declined 14 per cent from the previous year, exports, amounting to 190,676,000 pesos, fell off 8 per cent, while imports, valued at 158,790,000 pesos, decreased 20 per cent. (Peso equals $0.50.) The favorable balance of 31,886,000 pesos is the largest since 1929 and more than three times the excess of exports in 1931. Compared with earlier years, export trade in 1932 was the lowest since 1921, while the value of import trade has been exceeded every year since 1917.

Since 1921 the balance of trade between the Philippines and the United States has been consistently favorable for the Philippines, the excess of exports to the United States over imports of American goods reaching the highest recorded amount in 1927 of 89,200,000 pesos. The balance in 1932 amounted to 63,022,000 pesos, compared with 42,566,000 in 1931. Aside from the United States, Spain and France were the only countries with which the Philippines had a favorable balance of trade in 1932. Trade with Great Britain for the first time in many years showed a negative balance of 2,774,000 pesos.

OVERSEA TRADE BY COUNTRIES

Compared with the previous year, exports to the United States, valued at 166,005,000 pesos, declined only 1 per cent, while imports from the United States, valued at 102,983,000 pesos, decreased 17 per cent. The share of the United States in Philippine trade was the largest on record, accounting for 87 per cent of the total export trade, compared with 80 per cent in 1931, and 65 per cent of the total imports, compared with 63 per cent in 1931.

Against the decline of only 1 per cent in exports to the United States, Philippine exports to all other countries dropped materially from the 1931 values, decreases among the principal countries ranging from 16 per cent for exports to Spain, to 67 per cent for Great Britain. Exports to France dropped off 34 per cent and to Germany, 21 per cent, while shipments to China and Japan declined 55 and 28 per cent, respectively. Details of trade by countries and commodities are not yet available, but the decrease in exports to Europe probably was due largely to smaller purchases of coconut products and abaca, and the decline in trade with China, to decreased exports of lumber and timber and the absence of raw sugar exports, in any amount, while the value of Japan's takings of fibers was less.

In the Philippine import market in 1932, Japan lost more heavily than any other country, imports from Japan declining 43 per cent compared with 1931. This was due chiefly to losses in the textile trade, occasioned by active boycotting of Japanese goods on the part of Chinese merchants. Toward the close of the year, the Japanese were attempting to meet this condition by opening retail stores, manned by their own nationals and stocked largely with their own goods. Germany and France each lost 9 per cent of the value of their 1931 sales in the Philippines, Great Britain, about 4 per cent, and China, 7 per cent.

A statement of Philippine trade by countries for 1932 and 1931 follows:

EXPORT TRADE

Sugar.—Sugar accounted for 63 per cent of all exports in 1932, compared with 48 per cent in 1931, which was the previous high record. The increase in quantity amounted to 33 per cent, while the value of sugar exports advanced 20 per cent. The tendency toward greater refining of sugar continued and exports of refined sugar, while still very small compared with centrifugal, increased 44 per cent in quantity and 34 per cent in value over 1931.

Coconut Products.—The group of coconut products, second in importance to sugar in export trade, accounted for 16 per cent of total exports, compared with 26 per cent in 1931. Record low levels for price, quantity and value of exports were reached for practically all coconut products, and stocks at the close of the year were heavy. With the decreased foreign demand there was greater local use of copra and coconut oil in the manufacture of illuminating oil, soap, and artificial lard. The United States took 95 per cent of the coconut oil exported, 60 per cent of the copra, and practically all the desiccated coconut, the market for which was well sustained. Germany continued the chief buyer of copra cake, purchasing 78 per cent of the total. Much of Germany's takings are for transshipment to other countries in northern Europe. On a value basis, exports of copra in 1932 declined 44 per cent, coconut oil, 50 per cent, and copra cake, 33 per cent from the 1931 levels.

Abaca.—Trading in abaca (Manila hemp) was affected adversely by low demand in the United States, depreciated currencies and the use of steel cables in the United Kingdom, the tendency of Japanese cordage factories to utilize lower grades, and competition from South African sisal and Sumatran abaca. Production in the Bicol districts declined radically. Some plantations deteriorated and many small holdings were abandoned or converted to food crops. Japanese activity in Davao, however, increased and the output of Japanese plantations accounted for more than a third of the total. Japan took 35 per cent of the shipments of abaca, the United States 25, and the United Kingdom 19 per cent. The decrease in value of total exports amounted to 44 per cent.

Tobacco Products.—Exports of all tobacco products declined 14 per cent in value, leaf tobacco falling off 19 per cent, cigars 5 per cent, and cigarettes 25 per cent. About 90 per cent of the cigars went to the United States, compared with 95 per cent in 1931. Spain is the chief market for Philippine leaf tobacco.

The products discussed above accounted for 90 per cent of the total Philippine export trade in 1932, compared with 89 per cent in 1931.

IMPORT TRADE

Total import trade declined 20 per cent in value, compared with 1931. Only limited quantity data is available for imports, but trade advices and a study of price levels indicate that there was comparatively little loss in the total volume of import trade, despite the lower value. Notable quantity increases in imports of certain textiles offset decreases in imports of petroleum product, iron and steel, and machinery.

Owing to the very general reduction in incomes, import markets showed a decided inclination toward price consideration throughout 1932. In certain instances American goods were at a disadvantage in competition with lower-priced European and Oriental products. There was a notable tendency toward the substitution of native products for imported articles, especially with respect to foodstuffs.

The value of merchandise sold and resold within the islands in 1932, on the basis of sales tax returns, dropped 24 per cent below 1931 and was nearly 50 per cent under the average for the previous five years.

Textile Market.—The market for American textiles was very favorable. The elimination of weak importers, more effective distribution through large establishments, and the growth of preference for American goods on the part of Chinese retailers, aided in the sale of American textiles. Imports of all classes from the United States increased, cotton piece goods advancing 90 per cent on a quantity basis and 46 per cent in value, compared with 1931, while increases in silk piece goods from the United States amounted to 28 and 46 per cent in volume and value respectively, and rayon piece goods, 58 and 48 per cent.

Japan, which had been gaining ground in the Philippine market, lost heavily in 1932 in all classes of textiles, on both a quantity and value basis. Decreases in imports of Japanese cotton piece goods amounted to 36 per cent in volume and 60 per cent in value; silk piece goods, 28 and 46 per cent respectively, and rayon piece goods, 23 and 56 per cent.

Automotive Trade.—In view of the generally adverse economic conditions, the market for automobiles was considered satisfactory. Total new registrations showed a heavy increase over 1931 and imports of passenger cars increased by 74 units, but declined 8 per cent in value, owing to the more general use of small cars. Ninety-five per cent of the passenger cars came from the United States and all but one truck, imports of which increased substantially in both quantity and value.

The Automotive Public Service Commission reported that 640 public utility truck and bus companies operated on schedule during 1932, using 4,907 units, while ten taxi companies, with 364 units, were in operation.

Tires.—Imports of automobile tires from the United States, accounting for 95 per cent of the value of total imports, declined 30 per cent, while imports from Japan, although amounting to only 3 per cent of the total, increased 53 per cent. France, which in 1931 held second place in the tire trade, was out of the market in 1932.

Petroleum Products.—Imports of all petroleum products, except lubricating oil, declined in both quantity and value, and imports from the United States showed a slight gain in value in the case of fuel oil only. Lower bus and touring mileage and the greater use of alcohol and mixtures for motor fuel affected the sale of gasoline, while imports of kerosene dropped off about 50 per cent, due to extensions in electric light services and to the extraction of coconut oil for illuminating purposes in isolated coconut areas because of unprofitable prices received for copra. Demand for fuel oil was restricted by lower inter-island steamship mileage and intermittent operation of coconut oil factories. Greater activity of sugar centrals was responsible entirely for an increase of 36 per cent in imports of lubricating oil, most of which came from the United States. German brands, although still an insignificant part of the total, showed heavy increases in volume and value.

Foodstuffs.—The import market for foodstuffs fell off approximately 27 per cent in value, due to low prices for export crops, curtailed purchasing power, and the ability of Filipino consumers to revert to local food products. Total imports of foodstuffs amounted to approximately 27,215,000 pesos, of which the most important items, dairy products and wheat flour, declined 36 and 24 per cent respectively, compared with 1931. The volume decrease in the case of flour, however, was only slight. Japanese condensed milk and canned sardines entered the market on a price basis.

Radio Equipment.—Trade in radio sets and equipment was considered highly satisfactory. According to the Bureau of Internal Revenue, 5,731 new receiving sets were registered during the year, making a total of 12,646 on December 31, 1932. Improvement in the programs broadcast and the availability of low-priced sets accounted for the satisfactory volume of business done. Although the value of imports of radio sets and fixtures, including broadcasting equipment, was lower, the per unit price of sets declined materially. Ninety-nine per cent of the total import trade was with the United States.

A comparison of trade in leading imports for 1932 and 1931 is given below:

TRANSPORTATION

The number of passengers and the amount of light freight carried by the railways declined in 1932, while the amount of heavy freight carried was larger, due to sugar loadings. Transportation by bus lagged considerably and activity in commercial aviation was limited to the business of one company, operating three small craft.

Inter-island steamship companies showed losses in both passengers and cargo carried, due to lower shipments of merchandise to provincial centers and increased ladings of sugar, copra, and timber at out ports.

An increase of 10 per cent in export tonnage for high seas transportation was outweighed by a decline in import tonnage. On a value basis, 32 per cent of the export cargo and 38 per cent of import cargo was carried in American bottoms.

INDUSTRIAL ACTIVITY

Industrial conditions were irregular throughout the year; coconut oil mills, abaca baling, structural steel and machine shops operated intermittently. Factories for the production of coconut oil products, including soap, artificial lard and desiccated coconut, alcohol distilleries and breweries continued at normal operation, while sugar centrals and refineries ran above their rated capacities. Electric power production increased slightly.

Digitized by Google

LABOR CONDITIONS

Labor conditions were satisfactory, with no serious strikes occurring. Urban unemployment was absorbed by the return of laborers to the farming of domestic foodstuffs. Communistic agitators gained some adherents in several villages, following land and agrarian trouble, but disturbances were suppressed quickly by the arrest and conviction of the leaders.

FINANCIAL POSITION

Financial conditions were exceptionally sound. There were no failures of banks or of first class business establishments, although many of the latter suffered heavy capital and inventory losses. According to consolidated bank and government treasury statements for the year, bank loans, discounts and overdrafts and total resources declined very slightly compared with 1931, time and demand deposits increased 5 per cent, total exchange brought by the treasury declined 12 per cent while exchange sold fell 9 per cent, debits to individual accounts dropped off 22 per cent, total reserves were down 8 per cent, and total circulation decreased 5 per cent.

Average reductions of 7 per cent in government salaries, together with increased customs collections in the last quarter of the year, as a result of excessive foreign imports in anticipation of tariff increases in 1933, enabled the insular government to close the year with a surplus of approximately 2,000,000 pesos, compared with a surplus at the close of 1931 amounting to 5,900,000 pesos.

with the treasurer of the Municipality in which the principal office of the partnership, corporation, association or firm, is located. In case, however, a fiscal year (a period of twelve months ending on the last day of the month other than December 31st) has been designated as the accounting period with the approval of the Collector of Internal Revenue, then, the return must be filed within 60 days after the close of the fiscal year designated.

PENALTIES

The penalty for failure to file a return on or before March 1, ranges from ₱40 to ₱2,000, in addition to the following:

1. A surcharge of 50% when the return is filed upon demand.
2. A surcharge of 100% for filing fraudulent or false return.

For filing returns after March 1, or after the expiration of 60 days following the close of the fiscal year, as the case may be, corporations and partnerships are subject to a penalty of not more than ₱20,000. Besides such penalty, the following will be collected:

1. A surcharge of 50% on whatever tax that may be found to be due.
2. For filing false or fraudulent return, a surcharge of 100% on whatever tax that may be found to be due.

PAYMENT OF INCOME TAXES

Under law, income taxes are payable on or before June 15 of every year. But corporations or partnerships (excepting duly registered general copartnerships), filing on a fiscal year basis, are required to pay income taxes within 105 days after the last day of the period provided for the filing of returns.

Failure to pay such taxes on or before the last due date in each case provided, will subject taxpayers to the payment of a surcharge of 5% and of an interest at the rate of 1% per month.

Philippine Money

Philippine Pesos, half pesos, and gold coins of the United States are unlimited legal tender in the Philippine Islands unless otherwise specifically provided by contract. The unit of value in the Philippine Islands is the theoretical gold peso, containing 12.9 grains of gold, nine-tenths fine, representing a gold value exactly equivalent to one-twentieth of the United States gold Eagle, or, in other words, equivalent to fifty cents United States Currency. Pesos, Philippine Currency, are designated by the following mark (₱). The Philippine Currency System is that commonly known as the Gold-Exchange Standard. The parity is maintained by the sale of drafts in the Philippines by the Government on its Gold Standard fund in New York and the sale of drafts in New York by the agent of the Philippine Government on the Government's Gold Standard fund in Manila. The Government's rates of exchange are fixed, and represent as nearly as practicable the cost of shipping gold bars between New York and Manila. The Philippine Government, at its option, exchanges Philippine Currency for United States Currency and vice versa, charging for the gold coin a slight premium sufficient to pay transportation expenses. No charge is made for exchange in U. S. Currency for Philippine Currency in small amounts.

Philippine Silver Certificates while not legal tender, are exchangeable on demand for legal tender coin, are receivable in payment for all Government dues and may be held by banks as part of their legal reserve. United States paper currency though not legal tender is received by the Government and regularly passes current in the trade of the Islands.

The following denominations of Philippine Currency are in general circulation:

MANILA CITY DIRECTORY

A Public Service Publication

Few lines of business have such a varied clientele as has the City Directory. It serves high and low, rich and poor, with equal impartiality, and with profit to all.

It answers the questions What? and Who? and Where? which arise in daily business life and fills a position occupied by no other publication under the sun.

It is often used from its issue until it falls to pieces, and seldom will you find one entirely discarded while it leaves cling together.

A publication which is so universally used and whose life is so long, must appeal to every shrewd business man as a most desirable advertising medium.

Are you properly represented in this valuable medium?

In your advertising appropriation for 1934 you should include a sufficient amount to give you the representation in your City Directory which the prominence and importance of your firm warrants.
